

Your Vulvar Surgery

Your Gynecologic Oncology Surgeon has scheduled you for vulvar surgery. This handout offers you information about your vulvar surgery. It is important you and your family member/partner-in-care read this handout. You also need to read the booklet given to you called 'Surgical Passport'.

Why you need to have vulvar surgery

You may need to have vulvar surgery because you have a benign, precancerous or cancerous area on your vulva. Benign means that it is not cancer.

You may also need to have some of your pelvic lymph nodes removed. You and your surgeon will discuss what type of vulvar surgery is best for you. A pathologist will test any of your tissue removed during surgery. A pathologist is a doctor who examines body tissues and fluids for changes caused by disease.

Different types of vulvar surgery

Vulvectomy / Wide Local Excision

The pre-cancerous or cancerous area is cut out of your vulva and the skin is stitched back together.

Lymphadenectomy (or lymph node dissection)

Removal of your lymph nodes in your groin area. This is done to remove lymph nodes that have cancer and other lymph nodes when there is a high chance that the cancer may spread there.

Your surgeon may remove only a few lymph nodes with a sentinel node procedure. If this is the plan you will have a special dye injected on the day of surgery to help the surgeon see the lymph nodes.

LASER

High energy light waves are used to burn the precancerous disease away.

You and your surgeon will discuss what type of vulvar surgery is best for you.

If your tumour is cancer

Surgery may be the only treatment needed to manage your cancer. Radiation and/or systemic therapy treatments may be offered to you. Deciding what is the right choice for you can depend on:

- The cell type of your cancer
- The stage of your cancer
- Your age and overall health
- Your feelings about the treatment

Your healthcare team will give you the information and support needed to make the right choice for you.

Your healthcare team

This is a list healthcare team members you may see while in hospital.

Gynecologic Oncology Surgeon

Your surgeon will tell you what type of surgery you need to have. Your surgeon will work with your healthcare team to guide your care before, during and after your surgery.

Nurse Navigator / Nurse Practitioner

Your nurse navigator and nurse practitioner will offer support and help plan your care with the surgeon and healthcare team.

Nurse

Nurses will care for you before and after your surgery. They will give you the support, medications and information you need while in hospital.

Social Worker

Social workers have training in counselling and can help you solve problems, make decisions and improve your feelings of wellbeing. A social worker offers support and information to help you and your family member with your worries or concerns. Ask a member of your healthcare team about a referral to a social worker.

Dietitian

Dietitians specialize in nutrition counselling and education. A dietitian is available to talk with you about what to eat and drink to help you recover from your surgery. Ask a member of your healthcare team about a referral to a dietitian.

Home and Community Care Coordinator

A care coordinator from the Central East (CE) Home and Community Care Program will help plan your discharge from hospital and make sure you have the supports you need for your care at home.

What you can expect after your vulvar surgery

Bring a maxi pad with you to the hospital on the day of your surgery. You will need a maxi pad to protect your underwear. You may go home the same day of your surgery or you may need to stay in hospital for 2 to 4 days. This will depend on the type of vulvar surgery you have. Each person recovers differently. How you recover from your surgery can depend on your age and overall health. You may have a hard time with your emotions or feelings about having vulvar surgery. This may have an impact on your recovery from surgery. Talking to a social worker about this can be helpful. Ask a member of your healthcare team about a referral to a social worker.

A nurse will give you the information you need to care for yourself after surgery. You will receive a follow up appointment to see your surgeon in 3 to 4 weeks

After you go home

Instructions for all patients

- Your surgeon will give you a prescription for pain medication.
- You will slowly be able to return to your regular diet. This may take up to 3 weeks. Drink 6 to 8 cups (1 cup = 250ml) of fluids every day. Eat foods with bran, whole grains, fruits and vegetables to help prevent constipation.
- You may need to go home with a urinary catheter. Your surgeon will talk to you about this if needed.

The nurse will check the box for the instructions you need to follow after your surgery.

Vulvectomy / Wide Local Excision

- Change your maxi pad or dressing if it becomes soaked with yellow/pink drainage. Call your surgeon if your maxi pad or dressing is soaked with blood.
- Remove your dressing the day after your surgery.

- After you urinate or have a bowel movement, rinse the area with a water squirt bottle. Pat the area dry. Keep the incision as dry as possible.
- If your surgeon prescribed Flamazine cream for you, apply it to your incision 2 times a day as directed.

Lymphadenectomy (or lymph node dissection)

- If you have a small drain(s) in your groin area, a visiting nurse will come to your home to help you manage it.
- Wash your groin area with water and mild soap. It is important to keep it clean and dry.

LASER

- If you have a dressing, remove it the day after your surgery.
- Do not wear tight underwear or tight fitting clothes. You can use a maxi pad to protect your underwear.
- If your surgeon prescribed Flamazine cream for you, apply it to your laser treated area 2 times a day as directed.
